

America's Food Safety IQ

More than 2,000 American adults nationwide were surveyed December 12-14, 2023. They were asked about their knowledge of food safety inspections and how well they understood the safety of the food they purchase.

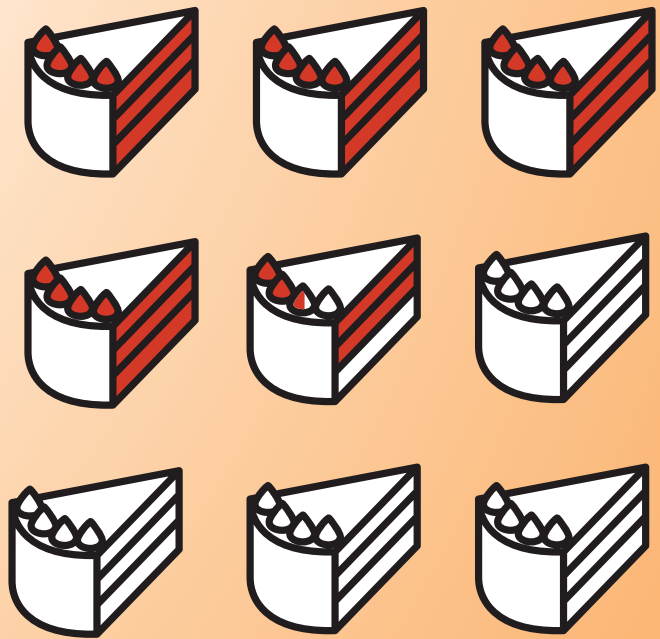

87%

believe food safety inspections of home-based food businesses are important.

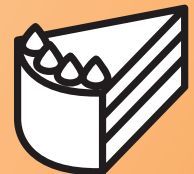

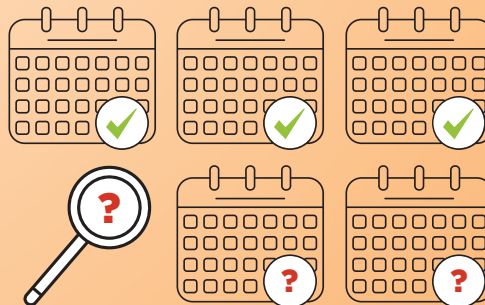

47%

Less than half (47%) are comfortable buying baked goods from uninspected home-based food businesses.

62%

think home-based food businesses are inspected for food safety practices at least once a year.

Survey conducted by Harris Poll

3 in 5 believe that food purchased directly from farmers and home-based businesses is safer than food from large farms and food manufacturers.

